NORWALK — The Norwalk Public Library will feature Jim Clark, Norwalk’s popular saxophonist, composer and music educator, for a three-part music mini-series during July and August.

Each one-hour program will take place on Sunday, beginning at 2:30 p.m., in the Main Auditorium, located at 1 Belden Avenue, Norwalk.

The series will begin July 9, with the lecture, “Aaron Copland: Dean of American Music.”

On July 30, Clark will give a live TED-style presentation and performance, “Evolution of the Saxophone.”

The series will conclude August 20 with the Jim Clark Quartet performing “Songs from Classic American Films.”

The series is free and open to the public.
